

Indian Cartilage Society

ICS-ICRS Fellowship

(ICRS world Congress, Vancouver, Canada 2019)

Introduction

Indian Cartilage Society (ICS) is striving hard to train its members in various aspects of cartilage repair surgeries. One most important aspect of cartilage repair are basic sciences that involves cell biology, scaffold engineering, cartilage histopathology, cartilage radiology and cartilage rehabilitation. Any cartilage care treatment is incomplete without these basic sciences and paramedical specialities. ICS is encouraging professionals of these allied fields to become member of ICS and also take part in teaching and training opportunities. In the process, ICS is tying up with various 'International Surgeons/ Faculties of Significant Eminence in Cartilage Repair or societies', who can teach our members about various aspects of cartilage repair. ICS executive committee is also very generous in granting funds to meet various requirements of these fellowships.

ICS leadership is also thankful to International Cartilage Repair Society and its leadership, who are very supportive of these fellowships. They are supporting ICS since 2014 for the prestigious ICS-ICRS fellowship.
